Marc-Anthony Bullock: Childhood Career (1986-2003)

Volume 09 — locked in. A mix of real shows, where Marc was a series regular or a recurring character, and fictional shows he led. These are the characters the public still sees when they look at him in 2006, and the ones he loves 100%. Born January 5, 1982; ages are shown for each role.

Career strategy: Natasha, his mother and manager, deliberately split his childhood between the family's Donohue Channel and rival Nickelodeon, so no one could ever say the Donohue grandson was handed everything by the family company.

Years	Show / project	Network	Type	Role	Age
1986-1991	National commercials and print ads	Various	—	Including Donohueland ads	4-9
1992-1994	The All-New Mickey Mouse Club (seasons 5-7)	Donohue Channel	Real	Series regular, Mouseketeer	10-12
1994-1996	All That (seasons 1-2)	Nickelodeon	Real	Series regular, original cast member; known for the recurring sketch character “Professor Know-It-All”	12-14
1995-1996	The Secret World of Alex Mack	Nickelodeon	Real	Recurring, as Jamal Hayes, Alex's classmate	13-14
1995-1998	Kid Mayor (4 seasons)	Donohue Channel	Fictional	Lead, as Jordan “J.T.” Tate	13-16
1997-1999	Kenan & Kel	Nickelodeon	Real	Recurring, as Dante Wallace, Kenan's smooth-talking rival	15-17
1998	Double Dribble	Donohue Channel Original Movie	Fictional	Lead, as Malik Carter	16
1998-2000	The Famous Jett Jackson	Donohue Channel	Real	Recurring, as Marcus Reed, Jett's best friend from Wilsted	16-18
1999-2003	The Wild Life of Danny Price (4 seasons)	Nickelodeon	Fictional	Lead, as Danny Price	17-21
2000	The Thanksgiving Heist	Donohue Channel Original Movie	Fictional	Lead, as Ray Ellison	18
2001-2002	Even Stevens	Donohue Channel	Real	Recurring, as Trey Hollis, a transfer student	19-20

Characters with real names in this table (Alex, Kenan, Jett) belong to the real shows. Marc's own characters are original additions.

The Signature Characters

Jordan “J.T.” Tate — Kid Mayor (Donohue Channel, 1995-1998)

A 13-year-old genius who becomes mayor of the small town of Maple Bend through a loophole: the town charter never set an age limit. He fixes potholes, takes on corrupt council members and runs city hall from his school locker. Catchphrase: “It's not illegal if nobody wrote it down!” Co-star: Tayia Boyd as Nia Wells, his best friend and chief of staff. The show became the channel's biggest hit of the decade, and its theme song was Marc's first single.

Danny Price — The Wild Life of Danny Price (Nickelodeon, 1999-2003)

A high-school junior who secretly runs a “fix-it” business from the school's abandoned darkroom, helping classmates beat ridiculous rules, unfair teachers and impossible situations. Catchphrase: “Rules are just suggestions with a bad attitude.” Co-star: Tayia Boyd as Keisha Monroe, his business partner and the voice of reason. Funny and heartfelt, and nominated for awards across four seasons.

Why these characters matter: both are rule-benders who help people, exactly who Marc is in real life. That's why he loves them, and why he won't disown them even as Hollywood wishes he would.

Music and Awards (Childhood)

- Music: the “Kid Mayor” theme song (1995) was his first single, followed by his debut album on Hollywood Records (1998) and the Danny Price soundtrack singles (2000-2002).
- Awards: Nickelodeon Kids' Choice Awards for Favorite TV Actor (1997, for Kid Mayor; 2001, for Danny Price); NAACP Image Award for Outstanding Youth Actor (1997); several Young Artist Awards.
- Esther: they met backstage at the 1994 Kids' Choice Awards. In 1995 she guest-starred on All That, which her parents allowed because Nickelodeon isn't a Donohue network. That's where the friendship was really born.
- Adult career (2003-2006): his critically acclaimed adult work as an actor, singer, writer, director and producer will be detailed in a later volume.